

Patrick Saunders Commission Pricing:

The creative process entails more than simply painting the subject. The artist begins with a photo shoot followed by pencil sketches of the subject with several layout options for your consideration. Upon the client’s approval of the sketch, the final painting begins. With sensitivity to your preferences and tastes, Patrick partners with you in creating a painting you will cherish and feel proud of. The time the artist spends with you and the subject enables him to capture the true spirit and personality of your portrait.
